CAMPAIGN STARTED FOR VACATION HOME

Hundred Young Business Women Confident of Success.

One hundred representative voung business women, organized in ten combegan in earnest the fund raising campaign for the vacation home for business women which the Young Women's Christian Association will erect this spring on the building site given by Dr. Joseph Taber Johnson from his country place near Cherrydale.

For several days these companies have been marshaling their forces, and they confidently expect to secure within the next month the $5,000 which the vacation home is to cost. Not only members of the Y. W. C. A. will be entitled to the privileges of the vacation home, but all business women of the District, Ten Captains Head Companies.

The young women who will act as captains of the ten companies organized are Mildred J. Bartholow, book-keeper at S. S. Shedd's; Martha Tilden, keeper at S. S. Shedd's; Martha Tilden, bookkeeper for the real estate firm of S. H. Smith: Florence Haskell, stenographer at the Union Savings Bank; Anna Johnstone, clerk in the Civil Service Commission: M. Carrie Smith, chief stenographer of the General Land Office; May Catlett, stenographer to the sixth auditor of the Postoffice; Imogene James, bookkeeper at Harris & Ewing's; Maysie Kunsman, bookkeeper for Neale Publishing Company; Anna Wilson, of the Government Printing Office; Ruth Swem, physical director at Y. W. C. A.; Edna Frizzell, instructor in domestic art at Y. W. C. A., and Margaret Taber Johnson, who though not a business woman, has cast her lot with them, and will work actively in the campaign.

Under these ten captains there are ninety enthusiastic and determined young women at work. The plan of onner these ten captains there are ninety enthusiastic and determined young women at work. The plan of campaign is simply to solicit personally and by letter contributions from the business men of the city, and from all interested in the welfare of business women. Reception At Y. W. C. A.

The money-raising campaign was begun last night when a reception was held at the Y. W. C. A., Twelfth and F streets, and the guests were invited to contribute as many pennies as they were years old. More than $200 was received in pennies.

The following officers of the Y. W. C. A. received the guests: Mrs. William Hamilton Bayly, Miss Helen C. Woodward, Dr. Ada R. Thomas, Miss Elizabeth F. Pierce. Mrs. William Hoeke, Mrs. Woodbury Pulsifer, Misses Florence Brown and Ludena Sayre. Mrs. Frank De Yo sang, and Miss Ruth Swem, physical director, gave an interesting exhibition of Indian club swing-ling.

Assisting in the entertainment of the guests were Mrs. Charles Corby, Mrs. H. B. F. Macfarland, Misses Margaret Johnson, Margaret Fox, Safah Schroeder, Maybelle Raymond, and Kathleen ick interests into the W. F. Frederick Plano Company and with capital fixed at $1,215,000, all of which, it is stated, has been paid in.

The object given for this consolidation is to better the service and usefulness of the various stores and give to each the same benefit of a centralized buying of planos in large quantities and a consequent lowering of the selling prices, so as to give to the buyers of single planos the advantages which come only through the buying of goods in great quantities.

There is now in the various Frederick plano stores, a stock aggregating in value $500,000, and composed of the world's most famous planofortes and
